Green campus Initiatives

In the college various measures have undertaken to make the campus greenery, neat and clean. The measures adopted in the campus are discussed as below:-

Introduction:

Chandidas Mahavidyalaya is a rural college. The management of the college is always concerned on the environmental degradation like pollutions, climate change, greenhouse effect, energy crisis, depletion of natural resources, biodiversity loss, air pollution, water pollution, soil pollution, etc. We all know the severity of the consequences of these environmental problems. In such a pretext it is very imperative for us to meticulous planning in respect of generation of awareness and pinpoint measures in the practical field and thereby to address sustainable development. It is obvious to admit that higher education institution has a pivotal role in such an environmental crisis. There is specific subject-curriculum in teaching and learning but along with this there must have sustainable and model practices. Young pupil of the higher educational institutes is the guide of the future and therefore they have to have adequate knowledge with mental orientation through green practices and its approaches.

With a view to inculcate this idea in young minds and to apply the idea into action college has effectively implemented the following measures: -

Campus greenery:

Inside the college campus there is a well-maintained landscape garden (about 10,000 square feet) comprising numerous small trees, shrubs and several ornamental and decorative plants.

The college also maintains Vegetable Garden without using any pesticides & chemical fertilizer but only with organic manure.

A Rose garden is also maintained accommodating more than hundred rose plants with enormous varieties.

A Dessert rose (Adenium sp) garden is also there beside the normal rose garden. It has been planted on roof top of a big water-reservoir of nearly 800 sft. area.

In this garden-zone birds of various species are often spotted.

Green committee of the college separately maintained a fruit garden at one of the corners of the garden.
